DEDICATION

We, the graduating class of 1938, wish to dedicate this annual to our parents who through their unselfishness, confidence, and perseverance have inspired us to be what we are today.

Mere words cannot adequately express our appreciation of their innumerable sacrifices; but it is our sincere desire that we may some day attain that goal which they have set for us.

Typewriters rattling
Editors kicking
Telephone ringing
Fountain-pen clicking.

Yelling of copy
Splashing of glue,
Artist gone dippy
Over pictures he drew.

Buzz of fan,

With book in hand.

The book is complete
Ready for you;
Keep your thoughts secret
And don't be rude.

Mrs. Iams--"Peggy, there were three pieces of cake in the cupboard, and now there is only one. How did it happen?"
Peggy--"Well, it was so dark in there I didn't see the other piece."

Vincent James--(or torically) "We have come to bury Caesar, not to praise him."
Miss Kirk--"Who said that?"
Vincent--"Some undertaker."

Lost--A fountain pen by a man half filled with ink.

"Bredern," said the colored preacher, "you have come to pray for rain. Bredern, de foundation of religion am faith. What is yo faith? You comes to pray foh rain and not one of you brings his umbrella.

Dick--"Naw, automobile tires."

SENIOR CLASS POEM

At last the time has come to part,
The end of a perfect day;
We've all contributed something,
In our own particular way.

While some played in the high school band,
Some others joined the clubs;
As athletes many reached the top,
Before they'd been just "subs".

The nutty ones--well, maybe smart,
Were known as owls so wise,
To them success will surely come,
With twinkles for their eyes.

Our officers were--Vice-President Carl,
The sec. the Archer lass;
Then Sergeant Jughead, Treasurer Briggs,
Then I as president of the class.

Then came an urge to try to act,
And show the world our talent;
So "Who Discovered America?"came,
'Twas really non-repellent.

In order that we finish well
The class play was a factor;
"Tom Sawyer" made old Hollywood
Ashamed of their main actor.

We, as the custom always is,
Were banqueted by the junior class;
They all are proud that we are now
Sophisticates at last.

Then graduation ends the year,
For us just what has fate?
Think kindly when you oft' recall,
The class of thirty-eight!

---Edgel Brown

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September 1932, our class of forty-two having completed the six years' trail on the hill, began our seventh grade year "with palpitating hearts" as an adjunct of the high school. We were assigned to Miss Brown's room. The geography class of this year was a memorable one since Mr. Oliver, the superintendent, was our teacher.

As our first year passed quickly we soon found ourselves in Mr. Dyer's room as eighth graders. This year was very successful and ended by our receiving eighth grade diplomas. This event was celebrated very appropriately and happily with a class picnic.

The following fall found us enrolled in high school as freshmen with a diet of only four subjects. This was quite a relief after struggling through seven or eight in the grades. Our number was now greatly increased by students who had joined us from the country. A few began to emerge from their shyness and join in various activities such as athletics, glee club, orchestra, and band. We were also well represented on the scholarship team at Athens. This year the only social event was a wiener roast at Davis Ridge.

Our sophomore year passed quite uneventfully. Two of our boys, Dick Murrey and Warren Jackson, received football letters while several of our members took part in the operetta, "The Mikado". More and more frequently members of the class now began to visit the room at the end of the hall known as "Detention".

At last we had now arrived at our important junior year. We elected the following officers: Bill Johnson, president; Carl Pilcher, vice president; Helen Archer, secretary; and Edgel Brown, treasurer. Miss Kirk was appointed our class adviser. During this year the boys of the class became very prominent in football and basketball. At these games we proved that we were quite efficient salesmen. In October we presented a Hallowe'en Festival which proved a great success financially as well as socially. The evening of the banquet the gym was converted into a Dutch scene, including windmills, boats, tulips, and ferns. Contraty to the usual custom, the banquet and prom were held in the gymnasium.

During the next summer, Cupid hit our girls hard. Three of them, Garnet Lowman, June Thompson, and Martha Mendenhall decided to venture into the field of matrimony.

After a very short summer, we started our best and last year---filled with interesting and engrossing activities. We recall many faces which were with us as freshmen, but are now missing. We elected officers as follows: Edgel Brown, president; Carl Pilcher, vice president; Helen Archer, secretary; Wilbert Briggs, treasurer. The senior class was represented on the basketball team by Moore, Murrey, and Johnson; while Moore, Murrey, Johnson, Jackson, and Triplett received football letters. Many of our class took part in the operetta, "Who Discovered America?," and in the class play, "The Adventure of Tom Sawyer".

We chose gold and white as our class colors; and as our motto, "Today we follow, tomorrow we lead."

Our days in Caldwell High School are now becoming limited and we look back with eager longing on our happy school years. As we prepare for commencement and the end of our high school career with great ambitions and with the hope that although we follow now, we shall lead tomorrow.

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Class of 1938, of the High School of Caldwell, County of Noble, and State of Ohio, being of full age, of sound mind and memory, and not under restraint, Do Make, Publish, and Declare this our last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making null and void all other last wills and testaments made by us theretofore.

Helen Archer, Virginia Paxton, and June Thompson, three girls with pleasing personalities, leave this attraction to Eleanor Davis.

Bill Johnson and Charles Moore, who have been two of our best basketball players, leave their place on the floor to Ben Robinson and Bob Radcliff.

Zail Spear, Dean Briggs, and Earl Woodford, three very, very quiet boys, wish that Wanda Jean Williamson might inherit this quality.

Carl Pilcher's regularity on the honor roll we bequeath to Paul Anderson.

Shelah Cain, Marjorie Brown, Dorothy Robinson, and Mary Turr, the dignified girls of our class, leave John Christopher their dignity.

Edwin Koons, the stage man, and Dean Rutherford, Miss Morris' errand boy, leave their valuable assistance to Russel Brugger.

Warren Jackson, Joe Buckey, and Wayne Triplett, three of the school's best football players, leave their places on the gridiron to Harry Haines, Charlie Satonick, and Don Bowen.

George Brown, the love bird, leaves his waiting station for the south bound school bus to George Walkinshaw.

Wilma Heppner, Dorotha Jennings, and Elizabeth Lichwarcik, our very efficient typists, leave their accuracy to Betty Harris.

Grace Pugh and Martha Harris, two girls with steady boy friends, leave their magnetism to Ethel Shriver.

Eleanor Robinson is the flirt of the senoritas; we hope Mabel Walters may gain some of her valuable technique.

James Whealdon, the huntsman, leaves his place in the woods to Carroll Ball.

Besides being a good student, June Leasure is one of our best dancers; she leaves this trait to Elaine Walters.

Dick Murrey and Wilfred Heppner, the carefree boys, leave their ability to keep monotony out of classes to Freddie Zimmerman.

Glenn Wilkinson, Wilbert Briggs, and Donald McDonald have made good scholastic records; this talent is left to Lloyd Love.

John Iams--the best thing we can do is to leave him to Helen Schott.

Jeanne Truex has been a fine chauffeur for CHS; she hopes some one will be able to replace her taxi service during the noon hour.

Jean Frakes, the vamp, leaves her power over the boys to Eileen Mummy.

Edgel Brown, our own Robert Taylor, and Charles Jennings, our traveling Romeo, leave their power over girls to Clair Murphy.

Renna Jordan has much personal charm. But, alas, we don't think she will leave anything; there seems to be a Bell who takes all.

Martin Slovak, our criminal lawyer who won his case, leaves this power over the jury to Vincent James.

Garnet Lowman, who believes in love before education, leaves attraction for a husband to Marilyn Hazard.

I, Robert Robey, the author of this last will and testament, leave a scarlet fever quarantine to anyone just for the asking.

TO OUR DEAR FACULTY, we leave the prospect of a peaceful vacation. As seniors are noted to be unmanageable at times, the teachers have done their task well and earned their reward.

In witness whereof, we hereunto set our hands at the Caldwell High School aforesaid, this 15th day of May, nineteen hundred and thirty-eight.

Signed Class of '38
---Bob Robey

PROPHECY

Twenty years have fled, and I, with a longing for a glimpse of my old classmates, was fortunately informed that two scientists had invented a magic ball by which one could learn of the successes and misfortunes of his friends. Lo! Upon my inspection, I found the scientists to be none other than Zail Spear and Earl Woodford trying to conceal themselves behind a growth of fiery hedge.

Now with eagerness I cast a longing gaze into this wondrous ball, and behold, I see before me the old home town. What a change in these twenty years of progress! As I look around, my attention is attracted by the "Fix-Em-Up-Beauty Parlor" operated by Mary Turr and assisted by Dorotha Jennings; the customer is June Leasure who is getting her face lifted. My! What a big change in twenty years! Across the street is James Whealdon's Coffee House where Jim has cleverly hired Dean Rutherford as waiter in order to delude the customer as to the size of his steaks.

The magic ball now conveys me to the court room where I observe a heated trial. Bill Johnson, the town's popular dude, is being sued by Virginia Paxton for breach of promise. The sour old judge, who frequently aims at the spittoon, is Joe Buckey. Virginia is represented by Martin Slovak who gives most of his attention to the attractive stenographer, Elizabeth Lichwarcik. Among the honest members of the jury, I find Edwin Koons, a respectable citizen of Caldwell and Wayne Triplett, the town butcher.

Again the magic ball shows to me the main street of the old home town. The sheriff, Chas. Moore, assisted by Wilfred Heppner is bringing to justice several of the incorrigible inhabitants of the town for a free night's lodging. Wilma had become Mrs. Moore to help her brother secure the position of deputy sheriff.

The ball now shows a new bridge spanning Duck Creek, which has been constructed by Dean

Briggs, chief engineer of the Do-Little Construction Company. Glen Wilkenson is operating the railroad station. (It sometimes pays to marry the boss' daughter). Helen Archer and Renna Jordan are happily enjoying matrimony while Garnet Lowman and June Thompson are in search of a new man. Their slogan is, "Twenty years is long enough with any man".

I am conveyed now by the wonderous ball to old C.H.S. Jeanne Truex has become Miss Frazier's successor and George Brown is seen taking the school bully into his office. At the village church who do we find gracing the pulpit but Rev. Richard Murrey; because of his eloquent oratory he has entered the ministry. In his pious congregation we find Shelah Cain and Dorothy Robinson.

Charles Jennings is trying to sell Mr. and Mrs. Iams a washing machine, and as Chuck says, "It might come in handy sometime." Martha Harris is now publishing the only newspaper in Florence. Who's that guy with a bundle of stale magazines under his arm? Why! It's Bob Robey still selling magazines to pay his way through college. Edgel Brown is now a victim of a nervous breakdown due to a recent delusion in love. He is convalescing under the care of Marjorie Brown, an excellent nurse.

The ball now shifts the scene and I observe those who have sought their fortunes beyond the realm of the old home town. Jean Frakes has become a Parisian model. Grace Pugh has taken to the clouds and is now an air hostess. Jackson, our mighty baritone, has warbled his way into the Metropolitan Opera. Wilbert Briggs has recently won the National Milking Contest; this shows what a guy can do with a little pull. Only one of our class of forty-one has reached the height of his profession, that being Carl Pilcher who is now painting the tower of the Empire State Building.

So this concludes the tale told by the magic ball concerning the band of sagacious seniors of "38" and interpreted by Wilbert Briggs.

JUNIORS

Many are the things of interest as we look back over the past year--our junior year. Such competent officers as Richard Riley, pres.; Helen Schott, V. Pres.; Helen Johnson, treas.; Lola King, sec.; and Charles Satonik, sergeant-at-arms, were elected at the beginning of the year. Miss Wilson was then appointed the class adviser.

We have, indeed, contributed much to the scholastic, social, and athletic life of C. H. S. as several of our class have become members of the Owls Club and have done their part to make our football and basketball teams a success.

Taking the lead in the social limelight, we sponsored several dances in the American Legion Hall, for all Caldwell High students.

In October, many weird costumed people were seen making their way along the "Ghost Trail", to the "Fortune Teller's Hut", and to the many game stands at our Hallowe'en Festival which was given to increase the junior class funds.

With eager anticipation we are now looking toward the forthcoming junior-senior banquet. We feel we have earned our great reward of becoming dignified seniors.

JUNIORS

Yes, there were forty-nine, I guess,
When we first entered "C. H. S."
To wander thru' the halls, you know,
Of course we knew not where to go;
And you could find us very near
Our own home-room--for we had fear;
Our one event--Thanksgiving play,
With Mr. Tipton having say.

Then in grade eight James Angus led,
And some ranked high in tests we dread;
Quite as before, Thanksgiving Day
Found us right there--another play;
In sports we made our great debut,
And then came summer--School, Adieu!"

When next we entered the school-house door,
We had eight subjects minus four;
And were we glad! Well, yes sir-ee!
We even joined the Clubs of Glee!
Again James Angus held command,
While many members joined the band;
From Maple Heights and Florence, too,
We welcomed students to us anew.

As sophomores we did sharpen wits,
With genial help from Mr. Pritts;
The "Hi-Lites" staff found several there,
Of course we felt we owned the air!
In sports we occupied a place--
But gosh! I'm taking too much space!

And now as juniors, we can shout,
The boys can get their red "C's" out,
To let the world know we're still here,
We'll soon be through--just one more year;
But don't forget how hard we've slaved,
Sold candy, pop, and scraped and saved,
To banquet seniors--ah! it's swell
To look back o'er and say, "Done Well".

FRESHMEN

In 1935, forty-nine "greenies" entered the high school as seventh graders, under the guardianship of Mr. Gorby. At the close of the school term we enjoyed a weiner roast with the eighth graders.

At the beginning of the school year '36, we were placed under the supervision of Mr. Dyer. Although several pupils left our class, others from Maple Heights joined to take their places. This year we again enjoyed the annual picnic with the seventh graders.

Freshmen! At last we were in high school. We were fifty-one strong with Mr. Ball as our adviser. Two boys, Ben Robinson and Dale McCauley, were on the Reserve basketball team and seven were on the Junior High team. We really have some basketball players!

Florence Orr, Wanda Williamson, and Marjorie Estadt have a chance of becoming members of the Owls Club.

The entire freshmen class takes this opportunity to wish success to all coming Freshmen, and to warn you to watch the flying colors of '41.

Girls-ROW I: E. Angleo, J. Moore, D. Lamley, W. Williamson, E. Walters, M. Lichwarcik, J. Kolenich, C. Fowler.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh graders spent the first few months of the school year of 1937 in becoming acquainted with high school regulations.

Rose Marie Harper was appointed the class Hi-Lites reporter; Agnes Bycura was secretary of the Home Room Programs. Several boys participated in athletics.

They made notebooks in literature, English, music, and arts for the spring exhibit.

HI-LITES STAFF

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club was organized in 1933 for the purpose of promoting fellowship and good will among the members and to increase their efficiency in commercial subjects. In order to belong to this club a student is required to be enrolled in at least two commercial subjects.

This year, besides the monthly meetings, outside work was done on a shorthand quilt which was displayed at the spring exhibit.

The officers of the club for the past year were: Helen Archer, pres.; Dorothea Horton, v. pres.; Ethel Shriver, sec.-treas.; June Leasure, news-reporter; and Miss Fitch, adviser.

ROW I: H. Schott, E. Johnson, E. Lichwarcik, Miss Fitch, H. Archer, J. Frakes, M. Moore.

ROW II: S. Dennis, M. King, D. Jennings, E. Shriver, W. Heppner, D. Horton, M. Harris , L. King, J. Leasure.

HI-LITES

All during the past year the first Monday of each month has found an industrious little group assembled in the commercial room making preparations for the publication of the Hi-Lites on the Thursday of the following week. The scratching of pens on paper, the pounding of typewriters, the ever persistent rattle of the mimeograph machine have all gone to produce for the students a better and more interesting paper. The staffs under the supervision of Miss Frazier and Miss Fitch gave their "all" toward that goal.

The R. O. H. (Royal Order of Homemakers) Club is not associated with the National Home Economic's Club, but the program, which is social and recreational in nature, is similar.

We hope that this Home Economic's department will continue to grow and improve in the future, as we believe every girl needs this study to make her high school course complete.

FRENCH CLUB

The jumble of French phrases and improvisions which issued from the meetings of the French Club were evidence of the fact that the spirit was there even if the grammar was weak. Many interesting notebooks were made which were displayed at the Exhibit in the spring.

Any member of either French class could be a member of this club which met once a month to acquaint the student with French history, literature, and social customs.

Our officers for this year were: Jeanne Truex, pres.; Carmen Long, v. pres.; Donnadene Woodford, sec.-treas.; and Miss Kirk, adviser.

ROW I: M. Brown, D. Woodford, M. Evilsizer, Miss Kirk, M. Orr, C. Long, M. Walters.

ROW II: M. Harris, J. Truex, W. Briggs, D. Bowen, M. Hazard, J. Buckey, S. Still.

OWLS CLUB

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

OWLS CLUB

Who--oo--oo? Who--oo--oo? Who or what is this Owls Club? This organization, which was recently organized under the supervision of Miss Morris, is the only exclusive club in the high school. A student may become a member of other clubs if he is enrolled in that department while in high school but not so in this one. He must have won at some time or other that red and white felt owl which is awarded at the end of the year for a yearly average of three "A's" and a "B". As a definite step toward organization, we chose a pin, which shall be used indefinitely in this "Honorary Society". We had as our officers: Carl Pilcher, pres., and Carmen Long, sec.-treas.

ROW I: J. Leasure, J. Frakes, H. Archer, Miss Morris, C. Long, H. Schott, B. Ralston.
ROW II: H. Morris, E. Davis, M. Brown, J. Truex, M. King, D. Woodford, L. King.
ROW III: C. Pilcher, W. Hutchins, W. Briggs, G. Woodford, P. Crum, G. Crum, E. Hupp.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir, a musical organization in Caldwell High School, was organized in the early part of the second semester. Try-outs were held for the purpose of selecting eligible members. The choir sang at several spring entertainments. Officers for this organization were: George Walkenshaw, pres.; Jeanne Truex, v. pres.; Jean Frakes, sec.-treas.

ROW I: B. Harris, J. Frakes, W. Williamson, E. Walters, Miss Megenity, D. Lamley, J. Moore, P. Iams, C. Long.

ROW III: C. Jennings, S. Still, J. Iams, J. Harris, C. Eyssen, P. Anderson, J. Pugh.

SCIENCE CLUB

In response to a call made at the first of the year, to pupils enrolled in any scientific subject, the Science Club was organized under the supervision of Mr. Weekley. The members, led by the following officers: Carl Pilcher, president; John Iams, vice president; and Grace Pugh, secretary-treasurer; have taken up an interesting hobby, the art of developing films.

This club hopes that the future Science Club will continue to progress as we have under the supervision of Mr. Weekley.

Members - G. Pugh, M. Brown, John Iams, G. Brown, R. Murrey, Z. Spear, Earl Woodford, G. Woodford, G. Crum, J. Whealdon, G. Walkenshaw.

THE FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers is a nation wide organization of high school vocational agriculture students. The purpose of this organization is to give special training in agriculture besides what is given in regular class recitations.

The Caldwell Chapter of the F.F.A. attended the Field Day at the Washington County Experiment Station in October where several of the boys bought hybrid seed corn, and some also ordered certified seed potatoes. The most important trip of the year was the agricultural judging contest held the first week in June.

The officers and members of the Caldwell F.F.A. are, Mr. Whetstone, Adviser; Regis Michel, pres.; Charles Hohman, v. pres.; Edward Hupp, sec.-treas.; Harry Haines, sg't. at-arms.

Members - J. Rucker, J. Ackley, R. Davis, E. Koons, R. Retzer, C. Craig, J. Smalley, P. Crum, W. Grimes.

ACTIVITIES

MIRROR STAFF

The Mirror staff has attempted to reflect in permanent form the school and its organizations as the seniors have come to know them. Through the splendid cooperation of every member we have been able to complete this publication.

If you have seen the editor dashing down the hall at top speed it might be that she had just been informed that the advertising manager had scarlet fever, that the class editor was rumored to be married, or that the production manager was anxious for more material to print. Or if you chanced to be in the commercial room during the month of April you undoubtedly saw our production manager and typists working sometimes leisurely and more often frantically to finish the annual on the appointed day. So with a little dashing, a little picture taking, a little this and a little that, the book finally became a unified publication which the staff hopes you will enjoy as a remembrance of the 1937-1938 school year.

Credit for the success of the annual should be given to the following capable editors and managers.

THE BAND

During the past two years the band has made exceptional progress under the direction of Mr. Wood and soon will be the best high school band in this section of the country. It now consists of forty members who are very active and willing to cooperate in making their organization a great success. The band has increased school spirit by its support at the football games and many of the basketball games. It also played at the operetta and the class play. We are very proud of our band's accomplishments and its school spirit.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

In September, 1936, a new course, that of Industrial Arts under the instruction of Mr. Pritts, was offered for the first time in Caldwell High School.

Due to interest taken in this department the first year, another double-period class and a class in mechanical drawing were added. Owing to crowded conditions, a paint room was made adjacent to the main shop.

This year the advanced pupils made various types of lamps, desks, and tables which were displayed at the exhibit and the fair of 1938.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The 1938 Senior Class Play was Charles George's adaptation of Mark Twain's famous novel, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer". It was presented to the students at a matinee on Thursday afternoon, May 12, and to the public on Friday night, May 13. The entire senior class and several of the faculty members and their departments cooperated in the production of the play. The coach was Miss Cynthia Morris, history instructor. The cast was as follows:

Aunt Polly	Jeanne Truex
Tom Sawyer	Edgel Brown
Sidney	Wilbert Briggs
Huck Finn	Dean Rutherford
Joe Harper	Carl Pilcher
Susy Harper	June Leasure
Mrs. Harper	Helen Archer
Sheriff	Joe Buckey
Mary	Mary Turr
Becky Thatcher	Virginia Paxton
Widow Douglas	Martha Harris
Jim	Warren Jackson

The net proceeds of the play together with other Senior funds were used to purchase a senior memorial, which has been the custom for the past few years.

EXHIBIT

At the exhibit which was held in the gymnasium, May 6, each department displayed the work which had been done by the students; such as, charts, notebooks, papers, photographs, and various projects. The industrial arts department exhibited artistic lamps, chests, magazine racks, desks and other pieces of furniture, while the home economics class exhibited clothing, charts, and house plans.

The visitors after enthusiastically examining the articles displayed by various departments attended a short entertainment by the band.
